temperature control perfected

Electronica digital tapware is another recent innovation in bathroom design that promotes water efficiency, for example, the smart system allows users to preset their preferred combination of temperature & flow and fill quantities for bathtubs, thereby eliminating the necessity to run the water until desired temperature is reached.

less water, better shower

Blu's water conserving EcoAir system is available in a selection of our hand showers & rain showers. EcoAir provides an incredible 50% water savings by mixing water with external air particles, simultaneously resulting in a comfortable water jet that promotes deep feelings of well-being. The inner distribution system allows a complete separation of the aesthetic part of the handshower from water - decreasing consumption while performing better even at low pressure!
